Charity Ball

Dear friends,

Today is not about us as fathers. Today is not about our daughters as our kids. Today is about the special caring relationship we have or wish to have with our daughters. Immersing them into a life of purpose, leadership and philanthropic service is probably the greatest gift we can ever give them.

We often wonder about the answer to the "chicken or the egg" question... all while the answer is staring us in the face: the NEST.

So I would like to point to pages 12-13 of this event booklet and express my gratitude to the 153 individuals who each provided one or more sticks to help us create today's nest inside this beautiful palace, originally built in 1904.

In a week's time, at the seventh annual Art Safari exhibition, 500 children will benefit from art workshops as they are introduced to education through art. These children are the real beneficiaries of our efforts today. We hope that one or more of them will be inspired to become the next Teodor Aman or Pablo Picasso. With this occasion, I would like to thank our friends at Nordis for their long-term partnership in sponsoring all 500 children through their generous donation.

Over the past six years, 163,000 visitors enjoyed Art Safari while another 10,500 children (ages 3 to 12 from both private & public schools, kindergartens, orphanages and daycare centers) benefited from the educational program, Art Safari Kids. Given the uncertain times we are now living through, I would like to thank all the members of the Organizing Team and all the participating fathers who stepped up and helped us organize a zero-based budget event. We all became "profesional beggars" for a short while and called upon our network and our own pockets to make sure that ALL money raised goes straight for the charitable cause and none to pay for the ball.

As my daughter, Anastasia, saw me busier than ever over the past few weeks, I started showing her lists and lists of what it takes to organize an event and showed her how many people are involved with producing a four-hour event. Not sure how much she will remember of this, but one thing I kept telling her over and over is that in ten year's time, when she is 14-15, she and her friends will organize this event while us daddies will just show up as their guests.

Until then, I look forward to seeing you all on the dance floor for the special daddy-daughter dance.

Mike Costache Co-founder & Chief Giving Officer Daddy Daughter Charity Ball

Dear guests,

It is with great honor that we accepted the invitation to join the second edition of Daddy Daughter Charity Ball, as the main partner of the event.

We take pride in our business accomplishments, yet this event is not about us, our businesses or our market share. It's all about the positive impact we can bring to society by joining efforts together. We can only control the changes that we ourselves can generate through our actions and the causes we actively support.

It is our strong belief that education is the only way to create progress for any generation, sustainability for economic growth and a strong and competitive work environment for all businesses to thrive in. Therefore, we fully embraced this opportunity to bring our contribution to the amazing educational program, Art Safari Kids - making education through art accessible for thoudsnds of children.

Together with my team, I wish to extend our thanks to all of you who helped this initiative come to life. We humbly ask of you to keep in mind that any small contribution from each of us can make a big difference for those less fortunate and help them to rise to their full potential.

Sincerely,

Concel Pastoord

THE FATHER DAUGHTER KNOT

The Celtic design artwork is a beautiful symbol that illustrates the beauty and interconnectedness of the father daughter relationship.

The Celtic swirls and designs so often seen on traditional Irish jewellery and on ancient manuscripts in museums like the lettering and illustrations seen within The Book Of Kells have always proved very popular with both in men and women alike.

There's some internet speculation that this particular knot style is based on the story of Brighid who was sitting next to her dying father nursing him. As she kept him company she began weaving an intricate knot from some rushes. Her father noticed her handiwork and asked what she was making. She explained that although each loop exists on its own, it is unable to be separated from the whole.
